The Evacuation of Rommey.

The telegraph has briefly amnounced the evacuation of Rommey by our troops, who are now on the Maryland side of the Potomac, fetched to the Compensation of Rommey and Hancock. Gen. Lander, in command, gave the order at dress parade, on Friday evening week, and by daylight the next morning the whole column, 11,000 men, had reached the Potomac, fifteen miles distant. The immediate cause of the change was the expected danger of an attack from General Jackson's army of rebels, and Rommey is said to be a poor place to defend. But the movement was so hasty that considerable the would, they despoiled the town of horses and vehicles. The sick were sent back to Wheeling, where they have arrived. The only thing in which we are resolute thus far, is the maintenance of Slavery: the crushing of the rebellion has been promised, but is not yet seriously undertaken, and it never will be accomplished till we strike slavery to the heart. A palsy of imbeelility and fear is upon us from God until we take our marching orders from Him. But the moment we do that, we are safe. We only want lustice on our side, and ,we can stand against the world. Put the conflict on that issue of freedom, and every man's strength will be doubled. Put the conflict on that issue, and few imay rightly demand of Grest Britain and France to stay their hand, and give us empathy and time, while we go through the land with the proclamation of liberty. Oh! that God may, even thus late, have mercy upon us, and inspire and send forth the proclamation. How glorious would then be our attribute, and how magnificent our moral power! "But," says an objector, "you have nothing but a paper currency yet!" True, but it is a currency the volume of which will be fixed by positive law, and not liable to change to suit the convenience or minister to the greed of individuals. It will be of uniform value—as good in Texas and Callfornia as in Massachusetts and Illinois. It will rest upon the faith of our Government, and not upon the homesty or business qualifications of a board of directors. It will be the currency of the people, in which every man owns a share; and every man's interest will be promoted by keeping it good. It will remove, if not all, the most formidable, at least, of the objections to peper currency; and though, by its use, a tariff would be a necessity, by reason of the continuance of prices above the metallic every man owns a share; and every man's interest will be promoted by keeping it good. Government Arms the Cheapest and Best.

Gen. James W. Riplery chief of the ordnunce bureau, replies to an inquiry made by Hon. Issae N. Arnoid, that gram made in the Government workshops are invariably the cheapest and best, and that private manufacturers have never been able to attain the excellence of the established armortes. In the one case every portion of the manufacture passes under a rigid inspection, by officers who have no inducement to lower the standard for the sake of greater profits, while in the other there is no such restraint. Armimade at Springfield, than which there are none better in the world, cost from $10.30 to $13; while contracts cannot be made with individuals at less than $16 to $20. No account is taken by the Government of file own outsy in buildings and machinery, but the individual contractor must of necessity derive some profit from such investment, which makes the cost of his manufacture greater.

centre of the commerce of the world, and the richest and most powerful action under the sun. So much for general results.

While, these ware being attained, we should be sure that the war for the Union, would be a success, and that there would be no difficulty, with activity on the part of our torpid generals and common prudence at Washington, in procuring from the people the means for carrying it on. Pursuing such a policy, we should have no apprehension of the currency inflation, by Bebel Garrison on the Camberland.

The rebel generals manifestly look for a Federal expedition up the Lower Camberland. The garrison of Fort Henry, on the Tennessee State line, has been greatly strengthened of late by the addition of two regiments. There are now three full regiments—the 10th Tennessee, 4th Alabaria, and 10th Ministriph—stationed at that point. The 10th Tennessee, although entirely composed of feds regiment hands, is commanded by a German, and is said to be one of the best regiments in the rebel service.

About one o'clock in the afternoon the wind arose and cleared away the fog, and we could then see the fee gunboats lying near the bank some distance down the river. We immediately gave chase, but they had so much the start of us that they had no difficulty in getting under cover of their batteries before we could get near enough to reach them. As soon, however, as they thought themselves securely protected, one of their boats rounded too and fired upon us, their ball first striking a sand bar about a half a mile ahead of us and glancing from there struck the water about 400 hundred yards in front of our bow.

We immediately returned the solute, and at the same time, the St. Louis fired three shots from her bow guns—two of which are rifled-By this time another boat made its appearance around the bend of the river, and all three, together with the batteries on the bluff, opened fire upon us. Army transportation is another branch which sadly needs dered in railroad transportation, and other millions in chartering sail and steam ves-sels. An investigation into this subject together with the batteries on the bluff, opened fire upon us. Both our boats then rounded too, giving them a broadside, and brought our stern guns to bear upon them, one of which is ten inch calibre, and the shell from this struck their largest boat right amidships, and at the same instant a bail from the St. Louis struck directly at, or nader, her bow. They then ceased firing and appeared to be very much confused and disabled, and hurried off behind the point and down the river as fast as possible. Capt. Forter then gree the command to give the 10 inch gun the greatest possible elevation, and fire it directly over the point in a line for@Columbus_and thus ended the great mayal engagement of the the Western Flottlink, without even a sensition or sign of a wound on our side.

We—the Essex and St. Louis—fired twenty-cight rounds. The rebels fired about thirty from their boats and twenty from the bluffs. Just as we were ready to start back up the river, Capitaln Forter had a buoy made with an npright post to which he fastened the fol-battailions of sappers and miners, better known as contractors and peculators. It is there the axe should be laid unsparingly to the root of the tree. A twig or branch may be lopped off to advantage elsewhere, but the huge leak holes in the Ship-of-State are made by the remorseless knaves who fatten on contracts. Senator Hale has introduced a bill to reach those villains, which if enacted, will hugely delight the houset class of people. One of its actions reads as follows:

The Kansas Senatorship.
Our readers have probably observed in the report of the Senate proceedings, on Thursday, that Gen. Lane established a triumph over Mr. Frederick P. Stanton, contestant for his scat, by a vote of 24 to 15. The question the victory was even greater than we satisfied in fact, it was a complete victory for we first drove them under cover of their batteries, and then drove them out again; and not only that, but drove the land forces away from their batteries.

LETTER FROM SPRINGPIELD.

Coffe in Egypt—The Minois State Agricultural Society—Sale of Lands for Catton—Monthly Journal of Agriculture—The Minois Central Railroad Stree per cest. Tax.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

STREETHING, January 15, 1800.

The Hon. S. W. Moniton, of Shelby county, informs us that he has tasted a sample of coffee grown in Effingham county the past scason, by Mr. Geo. R. Hoffman, greading eight miles northwest of Effingham Station, on the Illinois Central railroad. Mr. M. says that with the exception of a slight taste of rawness, owing doubtless to the want of age of the berry, the sample was fully equal to the best Rio. Mr. Hoffman received a few seeds of coffee, three years since, from his son in Australis; these he planted, and the past season produced two bushels of ripe coffee. He estimates the yield at thirty bushels per acre. yield at thirty bushels per acre.

Thus far the plant appears to be hardy and promises to be productive. Several parties in Effingham county are preparing to enter on its culture. It would appear from the statement of Mr. Moulion that the plant comes into bearing the second year, and the third year it produces a pretty fair crop. The berry is similar to that of Rio, and is doubties the same. With these facts before them. The States With these facts before them, the States Agricultural Society have offered a reward of $50 for the best 500 pounds of Illinois grown coffee, fifty pounds of which must be ex-hibited at the January meeting; and a premium of $35 for the best fifty pounds, five pounds of which is also to be on exhibition. Effingham county is in latitude thirty-nine, and as persons at a distance may be surprised to hear that so many semi-tropical plants grow and mature in this latitude, their surprise will abste somewhat to know that the great volume of heated sir, known as the trade winds, passing from the coast of Africa to Central America, is turned in its course by the Andes and is forced morth through the valley of the Mississippol river and apreads its gential influence over the prairies of lilinois. We shall watch the progress of this new product of the prairie with a deep anxiety, and shall hope to able to report its permanent success. This offee has no connection with the Otse, an hepbaccous plant, whose pods are extensively used in soaps at the South.

This morning we met the agent of a large nm of $35 for the best fifty pounds, five

The clucational interest will claim the whole fund for the schools. It will thus be seen that the Convention will have a nice time in actiling these rivel interests. The Treasurer reports on hand 500. This, with the $8,000 due from the State, will make a respectable fund for the beginning of the year. The Society's Joursal, it is supposed, will be solf-entaining. It will be solited by the Corresponding Secretary, J. P. Reynolds, Esq., who will make its pages interesting. The samples of sorghum sugar and syrup are numerous, and is the main highly creditable. The syrup is probably all that could be expected of the crade article, and it is now generallyconceded that it is much improved by refining, as is enstomary with the Southern article. Most of the samples of sugar are more or less clammy, and the only sample that has a Brely appearance and color similar to fair New Orleans, is from Ohio, made on Cook's Evaporator; yet, like all the samples, it has the vegetable or surghum tante. The truth is, that no certain mode has yet been discovered to granulate the syrup, and it is certain that when this end is sitained, it must be refined to please the taste of a majority of our people. In addition to the pay above stated, one ra-tion per day and abundant supply of good-clothing is allowed to every soldier. A few evenings since the brother of the here of Fort Suruter, the Hon. Charles Anderson appeared before a crowded house, in the hall of the Representatives at Columbus. Educa-ted to look upon slavery favorably, his family relatives wedded to the "peculiar institution —all his life-time an old line conservative Whig, and of late a resident of the South, his words have a weight inseparable from such antecedents. He made an address that rang like the note of a bugle. Here are some of his utterances:

For slavery be known not the remedy. It a disease that is gnawing at the very heart the station. Its roots are intertwined so deely into our national existence that no humart, no human science can eradicate them. Gen. Ben Butler's expedition to Ship Island, for the conquest of New Orlean, has been for the present "inid on the table." The general rendeavered to win local popularity by a contest with Gev. Andrew, of Massachusetti, endeavoring to force upon him candidates, for mission any whom he did not consider worthy and qualified, whereupon Gen. Butler undertook to send of regiments thus officered, or rather not-officered. The order was countermanded from here, and the regiments will probably be brought to Fortress Mource.

By There was quite an exciting scene in Dayton, Ohio, hast Wednesday evening, canase by the which freaks of a man who goes about sawing wood. The Mayor of Dayton sometim ago gave judgment in a case against this man and last evening the fellow, maddened bilquor, rushed up stairs into a room where the Mayor was, and attacked him savagely with his saw. The Mayor defended himself with poker and finally drove the wild eawyer down into the street, when he presently met and at tacked the City Marshal. The latter, however got the better of him, and after bruising him considerably, he shouldered and carried him off, eovered with his own blood. The skir mish created quite a stir.

A Figu Stony.—The drinking water at Chicago is said to be so full of sish that the effort of the fire department to put the fire on only add fuel to the flames—the fish oil in the water makes the confingration ten times worse—N. Y. World. THE PASTORAL AID SOCIETY .- A cle convocation of the Pastoral Aid Society of Illinois, was held at Galesburg and Knoxville, on the 8th, 9th and 10th inst., when a number of the elergy identified with this me Chicago and the rural districts, were nt. Sermons were presched in St. John's ch, Knoxyille, and Grace Church, Galos burg, during the session, by the Rev. Dr.

Pratt and Messrs. Bishop and Cheney, of Chicago, and Weldon, of Freeport. Addresses of a practical and missionary character were made by the same gontlemen, and the Rev. Messrs. Smithett of Galesburg, and Clark of Chenesco at the Galesburg, medicing and at the Galesburg medicing and Genesco, at the Galesburg meeting; and a Knoxville, the Rev. H. N. Bishop delivered Don't Tourn the Flac.—The St. Louis Democrat says that a few days ago the flag raised by Col. Morgan, at Plate City, Missont, was torn down, against the remonstrances of the few remaining citizens of that place. Indignant at the outrage, and sware of the consequences should the perpetrators escape, the men engaged in the descention were arrested, and, as we are informed, delivered to Col. Meigan. He immediately ordered a court martial; the men were found guilty and sentenced to be abot, which sentence was forthwith carried into effect.

Col. Berdan has nearly reco Cot. Serian has nearly recovered the effects of the explosion of a patent which he was firing, a piece of which wou his left cheek. As the companies compo his regiment are from different States, Governor can commission the field officent that the companies of the companies of the companies of the companies from the States, the companies from the States as which that two hundred cases of the disease her-mong civilians—and an liminous number of so-called typhold fever. The paculacity of this fever, as it is developed it has vicinity of Washington at the present time, is, that it is o'r ambarious type and origin, so that it treated as a mainral fever, with quintes and mercury, it soots successible, the treated as an ordinary type of the typhold fever, it is very fatal. In some regiments as many as form members are seen discharged from the service of this fever. The general term, "debility," is said by army officers to cover uses of imposture, but it exactly applies to a large number of cases.

gar The Superintendent of the North Missouri Railroad amounces the line in condition again. On Mouday, the 13th lint, the freign and express trains left St. Louis on the regular time, making sure connections with U Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad at Mace City.

[2] Homphrey Marshall's old acqualminance in Washington are much annuad by the accounts of the decility with which "the fix Intght" dispersed his brave army on the approach of Ool Gardeid. It was thought the burley Kentuckien, with all the factly would bravely head his mangalized mos.

tailor's. The result was the assessment of a fine of one dollar and costs, amounting to one dollar and seventy-five cents.

The procession once more started for the Time office, the musicians executing a peran in their wake. Last evening the happy Emmett stationed his musicians just within his door so as not to be amenable to the ordinances, increased his band by the addition of two or three trombones and a snare drum, and played londer and longer than before.

As the Times does not object to the music, but simply to the style of music played, we suggest that a jury of musicians be appointed to decide what are proper tunes for street music. They are the only ones complaining. The rest of the neighborhood is astisted. Let the question be settled whether they are competent critics of street music, even.

Beimont Bob, who, deeplie his yellow skin, did the country some service in the tented field, and who, for his services was arrested in Cairo, after a bit of fineas, and thrust, about a week ago, into the guard-house, double-ironed and condemned to live for thirty days on bread and water, sends his compliments to Major Knykendall, Provost Marshall, and asks him to look in the guard-house for his prey, Belmont Bob, although they have abused him, knows how to take care of himself.

Mr. Mattison, which proved a fine success.

The Pitteburgh, Port Wayne & Chicage Hallread Cases.

[From the Pitteburgh Chronicle, 18th.]

Our readers will remember that in last August very grave chaeges were made against six of the conductors of the passenger leains on the Pitteburgh, Fort the passenger leains of the Pitteburgh, Fort the passenger leains of the Readers, succeeded in embessing system of knavery, succeeded in embessing from the Company very large sums of money. Following the disclosures the conductors were dismissed from the employ of the road, and charges preferred in the Criminal Court, by T. D. Messler, Eg., Anditor, against them. In October, the first of the cases, that gainst the accused, the hill was ignored. May, and from an utter want of evidence ignized the accused, the hill was ignored. Shortly afterward, by order of John H. Hampton, Eg., counsel for the Company, the remainder of the bills were withdrawn—all of them resting on the same foundation as the first which had been ignored. The remainder of the charges were against Means, decayed.
